letter, that they have been rendered by all the butteries in the district." Detailed instructions as to the presoration of this return will be supplied with the printed form of return.

153c. From these returns a "General register of military offenders" will be compiled and distributed, monthly, for the information of officers commanding regiments, luttalions, batteries, and depôts, at home and abroad, and approxing medical officers. 153b. This register will consist of two parts-viz. an

"alphabetical register" and a "distinctive marks register." and full instructions as to their use will be issued with each register. The name, and all the distinctive marks. of each man will be entered in the alphabetical register, but the chief distinctive marks only will appear in the distinctive marks register. 153z. The value of the "General register of military offenders," as a means of identification, depends entirely upon the accuracy and completeness of the monthly returns furnished by regiments. The utmost care should therefore, be taken in filling up the descriptions of the men in these returns, and all scare, moles, and other marks, together with their precise position, should be most excelully noted in the column for dutaneters much 1537. The description of men discharged while serving with their corps will be taken immediately before discharge. In the case of men sent to prison, for whose discharge it in intended to apply, the description will be taken commediately before the man is ent to prison, in order that the information may be available in the event of his discharge being authorized. The particulars with regard to deserters will be taken from the attestations or other available sources. 153a. Each recruit on final medical examination will be carefully examined by a military medical officer, in accordance with the detailed instructions issued with the register, and in cases where, in the entition of the examounting medical officer, there is good reason for assuming the identity of the recruit with any of the men described in the register, the case will be at once brought to the notice of the commanding officer.

II .- COURSE FOR RECRUITS.

 The gymnastic training of cavalry recruits will not c. be commenced until they have been dismissed their foot-redrills, and that of infantry recruits until they have completed the ordinary recruit drill, and have been put through the recruit's course of muskeiry. These rules will not apply to young officers, who will undergo gymnastic training while at recruit drill, but any officer who is found efficient in the performance of the various gymnastic exercises may be excused further attendance, on the recommendation of the Superintendent of Gymnasia, and with the approval of the Inspector of Gymnasia. 14. The duration of a lesson is never to exceed one hour Fig.

and a half at a time, and as a general rule, one hour's drall in the gymnasium daily, when combined with recruit-drill, will be sufficient for the first month, during which period grimnastic drill is to be confined to the elementary exercises, and not to go beyond the second course. At the end of the first month the progress of each man is to be tested, and those who are found capable of performing efficiently the exercises in the second course are to be formed into separate squads, and instructed in the exercises of the third course. Those who are incapable of doing so are to repeat the second course,- their attendance at the grunnsium being increased to two hours daily if requisite.

15. All recruits, however active and powerful naturally, Last are to continue the gymnastic exercises for a second and third month. At the end of that time a selection is to be made, and those who have acquired such strength and activity as to be capable of performing all the exercises laid down in the fourth course are to be relieved from further attendance at the gymnasium as a drill. It will, however be optional for them to further improve themselves by voluntary practice, and the gymnasium is to be open at stated hours for that purpose. During the continuance of the course, recruits are to be excused all duties that may interfere with their regular attendance.

18. Weak and awkward men are to be kept under gym- Arke. haste training for six months; and if at the end of that wen time they should be below the standard of efficiency laid down, a detailed report of their cases is to be made to the out minute inspection, all the horses (including such of the sick as are able to leave their stables) are to be inspected at a general horse-parade, with stripped saddles, once a week during the winter months, and at any convenient time during the drill-season. 11. The ventilation of the stables in the barracks of mounted corps is an object of importance; and each building having, under the direction of the principal vetering surgeon, received the means of ventilation best adapted to its particular structure, commanding officers are bear responsible that this arrangement is not counteracted by the men who have the immediate care of the horses. 12. The frequent inspection of the stables and their
